The Plumas Eureka and Sierra Buttes Mines.

TO STOCKMEN AND BUTCHERS.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received up to noon, on March 1st, 1886, by the undersigned, at No. 16 Hallock Block, for furnishing beef, as required, at the Plumas Eureka Mine, Plumas County, and the Sierra Buttes Mine, Sierra County.
The quantity required will be from 12,000 to 15,000 pounds per month for each mine.
Beef must be of best quality—no old stage, old cows, or cows in calf nor cattle weighing less than 400 pounds, will be received.
The cattle to be driven into the Company's corral at each mine, in droves of ten, more or less, as the company's agent may elect, and to be fed and slaughtered at the contractor's expense. The company to have the offal and the contractor the hides.
Bids may be made for supplying either or both mines for one or two years.
Contracts to commence on May 15th, 1886.
Bonds to the amount of $5,000 will be required for each mine.
All bids to be marked on the outside, "Tender for Beef."
The Company does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any bid.
Further information may be had at the Company's office at the mines, or from the undersigned at San Francisco.

LABOR IS HONORABLE.

Grand Master Powderly, of the Knights of Labor, says that workingmen should join the rest of the world in reading good newspapers; and if they would do so, there would not be half the trouble that there is between labor and capital.

This is good talk says the Alta. All men are bettered by an enlargement of their horizon. Labor is honorable, laborers should be thoughtful, and nothing more stimulates right thinking in adult life, substituting defects of early education, than the newspapers. A paper that fulfills its mission gives up its news columns to a statement of all sides of every question. It does not teach one class of men that they alone have rights and the rest of the world have none; but it enables them to judge of the extent of their own rights, and to tolerantly approach the limit where the rights of others begin. Even if the newspapers teach error, it is better that the workingmen should know what it is in order to successfully combat it.

There is no denying or disguising the fact that therefore, even in this country, there has been a feeling that laborers were not to be looked to for philosophical treatment of economic questions, and workingmen have done themselves infinite harm by seeming to accept this unjust view of their own capacities. If organized, they have only been heard from in sporadic outbreaks as to the wages or the hours of labor, and demagogues have interfered in a way to prevent a stable, permanent policy, which would so work as to leave the interests of workingmen always in adjustment and remove the need of strikes, violence and contention.

Whenever capital recognizes a stable policy by which it finds it profitable to divide the gains of good times and high prices with labor by advancing wages, workingmen will cease to strike on a falling market, and as they have enjoyed a dividend of good prices in advanced wages, they will cheerfully share the loss of poor prices by a reduction in wages which they can stand, because, like other men, they will have put by savings upon which they can draw.

This idea that workingmen cannot be trusted to aid in a philosophical adjustment is so erroneous as to excite the surprise of all thoughtful men. The science of political economy was born, like the Savior, amongst the lowly. Adam Smith, whose "Origin of the Wealth of Nations" was an emancipation proclamation to labor in England, was cradled in the hut of a Scotch laborer and born to toil. Cobden and John Bright, who were the Paul and Peter of his gospel of labor, were both born in the ranks of toil and trained to trades which they followed for day wages.

In this country we look for the same class of statesmen to issue from amongst our laboring men. They must be those who will not attach themselves to merely partisan politics, who will not follow feather-head chimeras, but who will secure the rights of labor by conceding the unquestionable rights of capital and by forbidding its encroachments.

It is in the hope of the appearance of such representatives as this in Congress that we have watched with so much interest the rise and progress of the Knights of Labor. The genius of our institutions runs to the freest expression of individual action. We must, therefore, have no policy of repression, yet the fact is that party organization and party spirit ere work a virtual repression of the voice of labor in public councils. A lawyer or professional man will rise in Congress to tell what labor wants, when labor's own voice should be there, to tell its own story.

In Congress, ship-builders, railroad-builders, merchants, manufacturers and actual laborers, skilled and unskilled, should meet on terms of equality, and the contention now rife in every mill and mine and factory should be transferred to the legislative focus, become settled there, as far as legislation can settle it, until it is adjusted for every wage-worker in the whole country. It is idle to say that a mechanic who can sit down and draft the parts of a locomotive and supervise its construction has not the trained intelligence to enlighten legislation in the interest of his class that shall also guard the rights of others.

RICE CULTURE.

Californians are agitating the question of cultivating rice in that State. Some ten or twelve years ago an experiment was made on Grant Island in the Lower Sacramento river. The result was satisfactory, but owing to the rise in the price of wheat, no further efforts were made. The growing demand, with the tariff on imported rice, should encourage further experiments. A correspondence to the Evening Bulletin says California probably contains more swamp or overflowed lands, suitable for rice culture, than is used for that purpose in all the South Atlantic and Gulf States. These lands are to be found in Kern, Tulare, Fresno, Merced, Stanislaus, San Joaquin, Sacramento, Yolo, Sutter and Colusa counties. These lands are not subject to overflow from sea-water, and there are no Summer rains nor equinoctial gales to damage the crop while growing. The only high waters that sometimes cannot be restrained, are those of the Winter months and occasionally spring freshets in May, and these by proper efforts could be confined to much smaller areas of land if rice culture were largely engaged in.

Dement is Cornered.

The Senate Committee on Public Lands Thursday gave a hearing to the newspaper correspondents who last week telegraphed to their papers interviews with Surveyor General Dement, of Utah, which interviews Mr. Dement, at his recent examination by this committee repudiated and the statements contained, which he declared to be without foundation. Messrs. Corwin and Powers, of the Chicago Times, Rain and Crawford, of the New York World, and Guthridge of the Chicago News, appeared before the committee, and testified that the statements in the dispatches were made up on the direct authority of Dement. Curtis, correspondent of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, told the committee that he had received material for his article upon the subject from Mr. Corwin, who had told him, moreover, that the prominent Western U. S. Senator, who Dement was reported to have said received $25,000 from the Mormons, was Teller. Dement declined to be present at the hearing. Teller, who is a member of the committee, was present, and by inquiries purposely drew out the avowals with respect to his own name.

Careless telegraphing from here to the Eastern press, says the S. F. Alta, does infinite harm to California. To illustrate, we find a dispatch in the New York Tribune dated San Francisco, January 20th, pretending to give an account of the gale at that date. It says the storm "extended from the northern boundary of Washington Territory to the southern boundary of California. There was an almost continuous fall of rain and snow." To an Eastern reader that means a snowstorm all over the region named. But there was no snow except in the high mountains. To him a general snowstorm means a hard frost. But there was no frost. The temperature below the snow line of the mountains was just the temperature of a June thunderstorm in the East, about 60 degrees above zero. It gravaels us to see these careless and injurious statements sent from here as "news". Thousands are kept away from California by such folly.

The United States Marshalship of California will be vacant in a few days. Judge Field saw the President Thursday and informed him of the approaching vacancy, and in a laughing way told him he would appoint J. C. Maynard in case the President neglected to fill the vacancy. Cleveland sent for Mr. Maynard and had a long conversation with him, in which he explained his position in regard to making appointments and the policy he desired should be adopted in regard to filling subordinate positions. Mr. Maynard approved the President's policy and the interview ended. It is thought that the appointment of Maynard will be made.

NEWS ITEMS.

Jimmy Lind, whose voice has lost none of its sweetness and retains much of its power, has yielded to the solicitations of friends and will reappear in concert in London in the Summer.

The pending land negotiations of the Northern Pacific cover all that company's lands East, amounting to 4,000,000 acres, and if the sale is made it will wipe out $10,000,000 of the preferred stock.

A New York Post special from Washington says the silver men fear that Morrison intends to report some measure from the Ways and Means Committee which will give him the chance to control the debate.

A prominent Wall Street operator said Tuesday: "If Henry Villard returns to this country he will be the biggest man in Wall Street. He still has the confidence of the great men who profited by him in the past."

Senator and Mrs. Stanford will, on Monday evening next, give a dinner to the Pacific Coast Congressional delegation, to which a number of Senators and Representatives from other States have been invited to meet the special guests of the evening.

The snow which swept down on New York city Thursday continued with little abatement all night. It is a regular Western blizzard, and undoubtedly the worst storm New York has experienced since 1892, the Winter of the Park Row fire. The streets are being rapidly filled with snow, and street cars pulled along buried, rails with great difficulty by a double team of horses.

A toboggan, with a man and three women aboard, started on its passage down the slide at Toronto, Canada, Thursday afternoon before it was noticed that the gate near the bottom was closed. The toboggan struck the obstruction with terrific force. One woman's skull was crushed, and the other women were frightfully cut about the head. The man escaped injury.

The Governor of California has relieved John Johnson, sentenced to be hanged in Mendocino county on February 12, 1886, to March 12, 1886. Johnson was found guilty of killing a man named Cox last Summer. Johnson's wife turned State's evidence and swore her husband's life away, and then in partnership with another man took up land which her husband had pre-empted. Mrs. John S. Reed, of Ukiah, became imbued with a belief of the man's innocence, and it was by her efforts that the reprieve was obtained. During the time of the reprieve the matter will be thoroughly looked into.

Young Haggin Wants It.

Another Californian has appeared who desires to be sent to Vienna, and who is bold enough to say so. It is Louis T. Haggin, son of J. B. Haggin, of San Francisco. Mr. Haggin has gone so far in his application that he will not deny it. Thomas Finley and Mr. Haggin have had a long interview with Barclay Henley in regard to the matter. Mr. Finley asked Henley to support Haggin for the place. He stated to Mr. Henley that Haggin was well qualified for the position, because he was educated abroad and is the master of several languages. Henley consented to present Mr. Finley to President Cleveland. It is said that this candidacy will be pressed with Western enthusiasm, but it is doubtful whether the fervor of Mr. Finley's recommendation will induce the President to conclude that Austria has been sufficiently disciplined to receive properly an American gentleman as Minister.

Is not that Rather Tired?

It is believed at the War Department that the killing of Captain Crawford by the Mexican troops was the result of an accident and that the Mexicans fired on his command under the impression that they were hostiles. The statement that the United States troops had stock in their possession at the time of the attack which had been stolen in the vicinity is explained by Lieutenant Mans' report that they had just captured it from the hostile Indians. It is explained that Captain Crawford was unable to show the identity of his command at the outset of the firing by the Mexicans, because of his ignorance of the nature of the attack and the general demoralization which it caused.

A ROMANTIC STORY.

A Faithful Love Rewarded After Patient Waiting.

LOWELL, Mass., Feb. 2.—The local papers to-day publish the romantic facts concerning a quiet marriage here last week of two people belonging to well-known Lowell families. Many years ago Maurice Johnson, the only son of a wealthy Lowell citizen, entered Harvard University to be fitted for the practice of medicine. The young man was supplied with plenty of money, and his name and purse soon placed him at the head of a lively spendthrift set. His Freshman year was one unbroken series of wild exploits and several times he narrowly escaped being expelled from college. Handsome, dashing and rich, he became the hero of many love adventures, but finally it became known that he was engaged to the young daughter of a wealthy Lowell merchant, a petite young girl, with the customary fair hair, blue eyes and susceptible heart. Their romance had hardly begun when it was rudely interrupted by the disastrous failure of young Johnson's father. When the news was announced the father of his fiancée broke off the match and forbade the young man his house. The girl had to submit, and for three years she never saw her lover.

The young man meanwhile underwent a complete transformation. He sold his luxuries, did everything in his power to earn money, paid his own way through college, studied hard and finally graduated at the head of his class. On Commencement Day he was awarded all of the college honors. That night, as he was entering his lodging-house, he was accosted by a young girl, whom he recognized instantly as his former betrothed. She had left her home to come to him and offer to fulfil, the vows of two and a half years before. Her supposed desertion angered him and he repelled her, reproaching her as a coquet. The next day Johnson went to New York. He failed in his profession, took to drink, and finally was found by an old classmate, a brother physician, in a hospital, on the verge of delirium tremens. He was rescued, started again in life, and this time succeeded. He became well-known in his profession, wrote books on a special subject and was the envy of his rivals. One day he was suddenly called to attend a lady at the house of Mrs. Eliza B. Merritt, on Canal street. His patient was the girl he had loved years before. She had followed him everywhere he went, living near him, but never letting him know of her presence. She was dangerously ill, but his skill saved her. His love for her revived and last week they were married.

General Sherman's Future Residence.

The St. Louis Republican says: When General Sherman was asked if he was going to live in New York, because dissatisfied with the treatment accorded him in St. Louis, he said: "No; on the contrary, I have been very much pleased with my residence here. I have no fault to find; but my son, who is attending the St. Louis University, will graduate next Summer. He wants to go to Yale. His mother (naturally) will want to be near him; besides, I find it will be cheaper for us to board at the Fifth Avenue Hotel than to maintain this large house. We have been talking the matter among ourselves and have concluded it will be best to make the change."

When will you leave here?" "Not until next Winter. I shall go to California next Summer and bring up in New York next Fall."

A Special Treasury Agent.

General Theophilus Stirling West, just appointed Special Agent of the Treasury, leaves for San Francisco in a few days. He is from Wisconsin and commanded a regiment under General Rosecrans. His district embraces California, Oregon and Alaska. He has some excellent endorsements. General Hancock wrote a special letter in his behalf. He is one of the nine officers who cut a tunnel under the Libby prison and escaped. For nine years afterward he was a partner in the large shoe house of West Brothers, of Philadelphia. He is a man of means. The appointment is said to be quite a good selection.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world.
